CAMPING

We will be camping for two nights on the South Rim of Grand Canyon at a group site in Mather Campground. Restroom and pay-showers are a short distance away and water will be available near the campsite, but there will be limited privacy and no electricity. A camping checklist will be supplied to you but you will be responsible for basic personal camping gear including; sleeping bag, mat or cot, and tent (if desired). Space restrictions on the bus are extreme and you will be allowed no more than two compact duffle bags to stow all your gear.

Valuables may be secured in the bus, which is not likely to be parked near to the campground overnight. A member of our group will be around the campground during most of the day, but you will be responsible for your own property.

A six-mile (round-trip) hike is planned to descend the Bright Angel Trail, which you may complete all or in part. Good footwear (hiking boots) and small backpack for water, camera, etc., will be required, as well as sunglasses, hat with brim, and sunscreen.

Six meals will be provided, three will be "on your own" (inexpensive but good dining options). No cook-stove or food preparation will be required on your part. Everyone is responsible to play his/her part in the smooth running of camp. This includes maintaining a clean, litter-free area, and lending a hand where needed.
